

Taft-Hartley Law Repeal Up In Air

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, May 5 (AP)—Labor legislation strategists in both branches of Congress charted new battle plans today even as the smoke of the hectic house scrap still swirled.

Public predictions of final victory came from both camps—that is, from (1) those who want to get rid of the Taft-Hartley law, and (2) those who want to keep most of it.

But there was a note of restraint—even gloom—in the private comments of some legislators.

This is the situation: In the House, the Wood bill to keep much of the T-H law on the books is back in the Labor committee—fired there yesterday by a narrow-squeak vote of 212 to 209. The House sent the measure back to the committee for further study and hence reversed its acceptance of the bill on Tuesday, 217 to 203.

Yesterday's surprise action means there is no labor bill before the House at present, and the Taft-Hartley law still stands. It also means the Truman administration can launch another drive, starting in the Labor committee, for House approval of its Taft-Hartley repeal bill—which got no place in this week's debate. However, the indications are Democratic leaders will concentrate instead on a compromise measure which would keep some of the T-H provisions.

That compromise bill also was defeated in the first round House battle. So there will be an uphill fight on that the next time.

In the Senate, the opening of labor legislation debate still appears to be about a month in the future. But Republican foes of the administration's Taft-Hartley repealer laid the groundwork yesterday for their counter-attack.

GOP Senators Taft (Ohio), Smith (N.J.) and Donnell (Mo.) all members of the Senate Labor committee—introduced a new labor bill which Taft told the Senate would "retain the best features of the Taft-Hartley law."

The administration's Thomas-Lesinski bill would junk the T-H law and replace it with a modified version of the old Wagner Act.

Heat Rockets To 90 In Lower Michigan

No Relief In Sight For Sweltering Cities

(By The Associated Press)

A third straight day of record-breaking heat was forecast for Michigan today by sweltering weathermen.

Late today the mercury is expected to climb to 90 or more. The present mark of 90 degrees was set in 1895.

Wednesday in Detroit the temperature hit a record-breaking 89 at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday, the first day of the heat wave, the high was 84.

The weather bureau said no immediate relief was in sight. Showers or thundershowers were forecast for Friday, but the weatherman said the warm and humid wave was expected to continue at least to the weekend.

With the heat came Michigan's first swimming fatality of the season. At Flint, where the mercury took off to a record high of 92, Richard Lynch, 14, drowned last night while trying to swim across the Flint river.

New Wage Demands For Steel Industry Prepared By Union

Pittsburgh, May 5 (AP)—The wage-policy committee of the CIO-United Steel Workers Union meets here today to ratify a program of demands to be placed before the steel industry.

The demands—drafted at a two-day meeting of the union's top leaders ending yesterday—were not made public, but President Philip Murray of the Steelworkers and the CIO declared "we will ask on the basis of the needs of the workers."

Leaders of the Steelworkers union have indicated in recent utterances that the USW will ask for another wage increase, pensions for workers and other benefits.

Murray said the Steelworkers will reopen 835 agreements in basic steel producing companies affecting 706,000 workers.

The union, he said, also will start negotiations for 11,222 wage pacts in the fabricating industries in cases where contracts expire in the next three months.

Youth Bound Over In Milwaukee Court For Killing Girl, 16

Milwaukee, May 5 (AP)—Police-faced Milton Babich, 19, was bound over to municipal court yesterday on a charge of killing 16-year-old Patricia Birmingham.

District Judge Harvey L. Neelen terminated yesterday's preliminary hearing swiftly at 4:30 p. m. and bound the former high school honor student over for trial.

Babich is charged with first degree murder in Patricia's death. The bullet-pierced body of the pretty, suburban West Allis high school girl was fished from the Milwaukee river March 20. That was just two days after Babich eloped to Michigan with the victim's sister, Kathleen.

In a statement released by Dist. Atty. William J. McCauley, Babich stated that Patricia was killed by accident Feb. 10 in a struggle for a .22 calibre target revolver. He said he produced the gun to frighten Patricia so she wouldn't reveal that Kathleen was pregnant.

Stares At Floor

The youth sat between his attorneys, Arthur Richter and Edward T. Berkanovic, his face expressionless, throughout most of the hearing. But he stared at the floor as a pathologist testified about an autopsy performed on Patricia.

The pathologist, Dr. L. J. Van Hecke, said two bullets struck the girl. One, he said, entered at the angle of the left jaw and passed all the way through her head, emerging at the right midline of her neck, slightly below the hairline.

The second, he said, entered behind her left ear, pierced the skull on the right side and came to rest just beneath the skin near the right temple.

He said death was due to a "bullet wound in the head," and that no other possible cause of death was found. He testified that the girl was a virgin.

Sales Tax Repeal Plan Slapped Down

Flood Of Bills Swamps Senate In Lansing

Lansing, May 5 (AP)—A half-hearted attempt to repeal the state sales tax and replace it with a one per cent consumption tax was slapped down yesterday by the House in a brief session.

The chamber adjourned to permit committees to work on Senate bills. They must be out of committee by Friday to permit a May 20 adjournment. The committee deadline originally was Wednesday, but it was extended by both Houses after the Senate was swamped with a late flood of House bills.

The Hauffe bill, designed to evade the sales tax diversion amendment, would return all revenue of the proposed new tax to the state. This, Hauffe said, would produce several million dollars more for the state than the sales tax now does after the diversion and the mandated school aid appropriation.

House committees reported 39 Senate measures for House action. These included measures to increase the vessel fuel tax from three to four cents a gallon, set up rent decontrol procedures if federal controls end, extend the life of auto license plates to five years and create a new office in the state court of claims to handle appeals by veterans refused state bonuses.

Airlift to Berlin Will Keep Going,

Build Up Stockpile

Berlin, May 5 (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay said today he expects the Allied airlift to continue until well over 200,000 tons of supplies.

The retiring U. S. military governor said he has not received instructions to keep it going, but he expects them. "We don't have enough truckage allocated to us between West Germany and Berlin to build up supplies quickly by rail," Clay explained. "It would be a long, slow process."

The General said he expected the lift would continue until food and coal reserves in the western sectors of Berlin are as large as they were when the Russians clamped down their blockade.

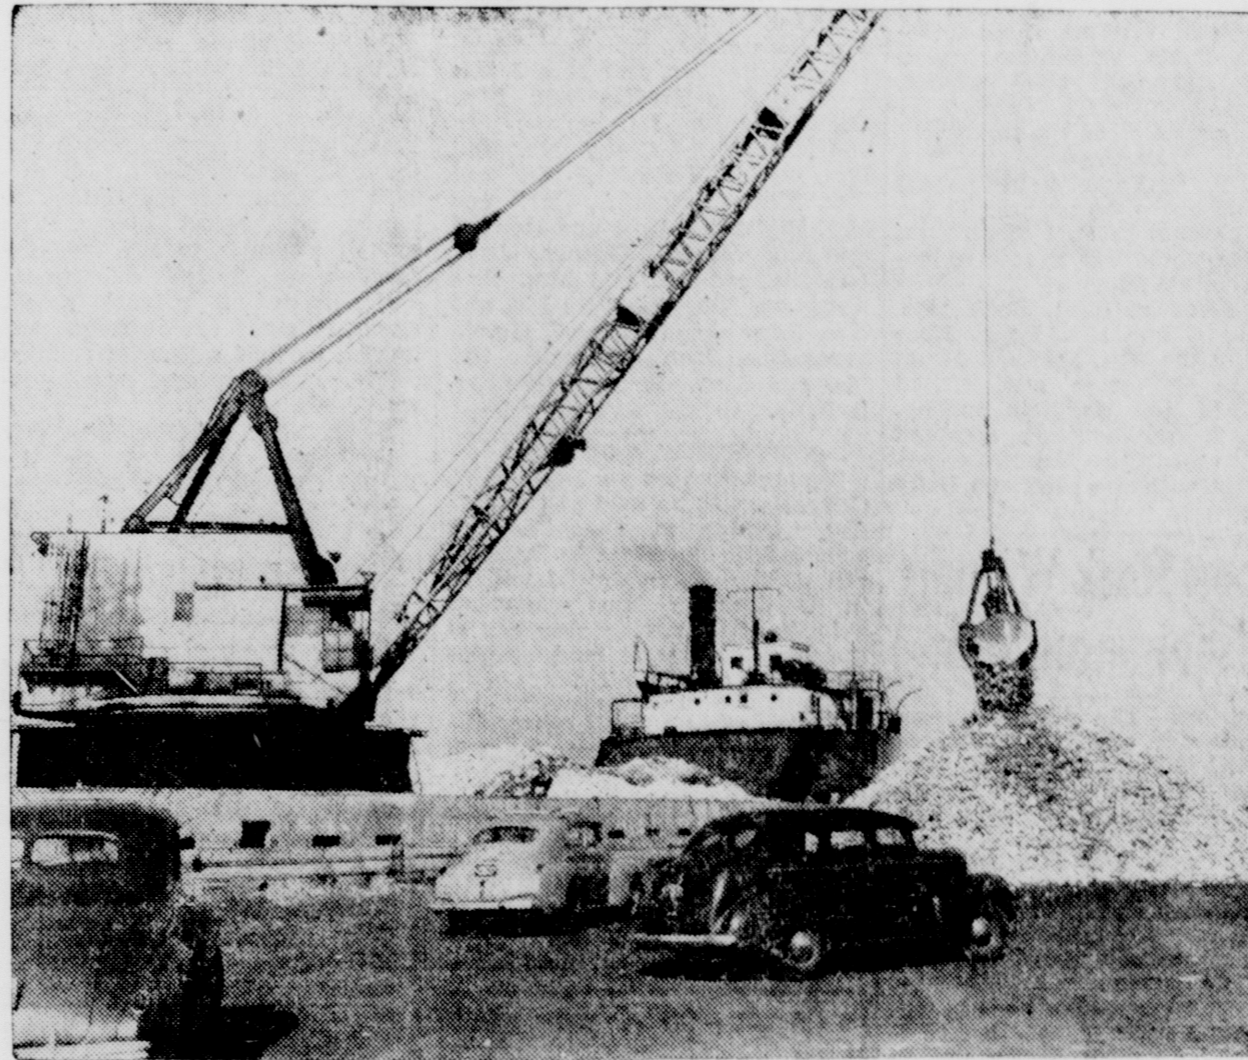

"At that time 10 months ago we had 180,000 tons of coal and 30,000 tons of food on hand here," Clay said.

The airlift is geared to haul in more than 200,000 tons a month. Most Allied observers here believe the air fleet in any event would be kept intact and ready to fly until the forthcoming four-power talks in Paris come to a conclusion.

MONKEYS GET LOOSE

Kalamazoo, (AP)—City park officials are hunting two monkeys, let loose from their cage in the Milham Park zoo Wednesday by vandals.

Year-Long Berlin Blockade To Be Lifted Next Thursday

STONE SALVAGED—The Roen Steamship company's barge, Hilda, equipped with a heavy crane, has been salvaging stone from the cribs of the government ore docks here. The stone, loaded on the merchant dock, has been purchased by the city of Escanaba and will be crushed and removed to city property adjacent to the Delta Hardware company. Between 4,000 to 6,000 cubic yards will be salvaged from the two docks.

Atlantic Pact Foes Get Senate Hearing

Henry Wallace Leads Off Bitter Opposition

Washington, May 5 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace charged today that a desire to complete the North Atlantic Alliance led the state department to hold up for over a month a March 21 Russian offer to lift the Berlin blockade.

He told the Senate Foreign Relations committee in a prepared statement that the department withheld the story "because it explodes the myth on which the North Atlantic pact is based and destroys the basis on which it is being sold to the American people."

Wallace urged the committee to hold up action on the treaty until after a foreign ministers conference discussion of the German situation.

The conference, he said, might be "our last opportunity" to arrive at a peaceful settlement of differences between Russia and America.

Wallace, once vice president under Franklin D. Roosevelt and now head of the Progressive party, was the first unfriendly witness before the Senate Foreign Relations committee which for six days has listened to those favoring the treaty.

Chinese Communists Hook Up With Reds In Burma And Korea

Shanghai, May 5 (AP)—Chinese Communists have joined in a Russian-blessed alliance with North Korean and Burmese Reds, the official Chinese Central News agency said today.

The Communist action was announced as part of "the joint struggle against American and British imperialism," the Nationalist agency said.

If true, the "mutual defense pact" would stretch a 3,500-mile Red arc from the sea of Japan to the Indian ocean—an arc encompassing hundreds of millions of people. There was no confirmation of the pact from other sources, however.

Chinese Red armies meanwhile slashed across south central China.

As government forces prepared to yield Hankow, shaky central China fortress-city, a Red offensive posed a sharpening threat to their escape route. The Red drive was nearing Nanchang, midway between Shanghai and Canton, and seemed aimed at Changsha as well. Changsha, 175 miles farther inland, is on the rail line 200 miles south from Hankow.

Ramsay Iron Mine Fire Under Control

Ramsay, Mich., May 5 (AP)—A fire 3,500 feet underground in the world's deepest iron mine is under control.

Fire-fighters, unable to use water, have built bulkheads to seal off the blaze on the 30th level of the Eureka mine of the Castile Mining company.

The blaze broke out late Tuesday, between shifts. Only a few workmen were in the mine and they were not endangered.

Ford Workers Now On Strike

Detroit, May 5 (AP)—A strike of 65,000 workers hit Ford Motor Co. at noon (EST) today and negotiations broke up a last-minute conference in which they had hoped to reach a settlement.

Peace talks were called off at 12:20 p. m. They had been extended after the deadline in a last desperate hope that agreement could be reached.

The walkout took place simultaneously on two fronts. Some 62,000 workers streamed out of the big Rouge plant, control point of the Ford empire. Another 3,000 walked out of the Lincoln-Mercury plant.

If the strike lasts, Ford's worldwide industrial empire soon would be tied up.

There was no disorder. The company reported, however, that one worker, Earl Ellis, 52, was stricken with a heart attack just after leaving the Rouge plant. He died in the company hospital.

Picket lines were quickly established in the sweltering heat outside both plants, and sound trucks rolled onto the scene.

At issue was the union's charge that Ford had speeded up production at the two plants beyond a rate compatible with workers' health. Ford denied this.

The strike was the first major shutdown in the auto industry since last May. It was the first to hit Ford since the bloody 1941 strike in which the UAW-CIO gained recognition after a violent struggle.

German Agreement Hailed As Russian Victory In Moscow

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

Washington, May 5 (AP)—Moscow is expected here to treat the Berlin blockade settlement as a sweeping diplomatic victory for Soviet Russia and world "peace" forces.

American officials were not sure in advance of today's Big Four announcement whether Russia would break its long silence over the negotiations immediately. Some looked for a delay in an expected propaganda campaign until the Council of Foreign Ministers meets.

There appeared general agreement however that Moscow would follow this official line.

1. Premier Stalin offered a Berlin settlement last January but the west rejected it.

2. Then world peace forces made their influence felt, partly through the Communist-run New York and Paris conferences.

3. The western governments were thus forced by the pressure of public opinion to seek a settlement through the series of secret meetings between Ambassador Philip C. Jessup and Russia's Jacob Malik.

4. By agreeing to resume Big Four meetings, the west "reversed" its stand of last August, when earlier negotiations broke down.

Meanwhile news reports to Russia through the state department's "Voice of America" and the British Broadcasting company have been almost completely blacked out by an intensive round-the-clock Soviet campaign of jamming the radio lanes.

Sisters Disappear At Whitehall, Mich.

Officers Baffled After Four-Day Search

Whitehall, Mich., May 5 (AP)—The disappearance of two school-age sisters still baffled police today after a fruitless four-day-old search.

The girls, Joann Franks, 12, and Bonnie, 11, were last reported seen entering a young man's car.

A warrant charging child enticement was issued yesterday against 21-year-old Floyd Baxter of Shelby, the girls' reported companion.

Earlier in the day, however, Baxter's mother told police her son had called her on the telephone from Independence, Iowa, and said he knew nothing of the girls' disappearance.

State police said Baxter was seen picking up Joann and Bonnie in his car Sunday night and that the sisters had not been seen since.

The girls' mother, Mrs. Elsie Stuber, 32, described them as "large for their age."

Their stepfather, Clifford Stuber, 30, first reported that they had run away. State police entered the case Monday.

Wild West Bandits Get 20-Year Terms For Holdup On B&O

Fairmont, W. Va., May 5 (AP)—The two young wild west bandits from Ohio who boldly held up a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train two months ago have each been sentenced to 20 years in jail.

Federal Judge Harry E. Watkins yesterday handed down the identical maximum sentences to Luman Ramsdell, 23, and George L. Ashton, 20. Both are from Youngstown, O.

They were charged with and admitted halting the B. & O. "Ambassador" near Martinsburg, W. Va., the night of March 9 and robbing some 100 fellow passengers of about $1,000. They were captured the next day in Washington, D. C.

Ashton's mother has brought suit against the railroad, charging that her son, as a minor, was illegally sold intoxicating drinks aboard the train.

Williams Appointee Finally Confirmed

Lansing, May 5 (AP)—After three tries, Governor Williams Wednesday secured Senate confirmation of an appointment to the State Unemployment Compensation commission.

The Senate confirmed unanimously the appointment of Tom Downs, CIO Research and Educational Director, as a member of the commission to succeed Joseph D. Hadley of Detroit.

Previously, the Senate had refused to confirm A. Kempton Williams of Detroit to the same position and Paul L. Stanchfield of Hastings and Washington, D. C., as commission director.

Deal Closed In Harmony By Big Four

Foreign Ministers Iron Out German Problems

(By The Associated Press)

In an atmosphere of armed truce, the East and West girded today for the next round of the cold war—after the blockades at Berlin are lifted next Thursday.

The West considered it had won a victory by bringing the Russians to agreement. But Russian-controlled organs were putting the best front they could on the developments—and there was more than one way of looking at the turn of events.

Stormy Session Ahead
At best, the battle of Berlin was only part of a broad picture strewn with storm clouds.

And a cold wind still was blowing off Russia, toward the foreign ministers council which will meet in Paris May 23 to consider the German question as a whole.

Under the Big Four agreement made public today, the Russians will lift the total blockade which shut off western Berlin, except by air, for more than 10 months. For their part, the western Allies will end a counter-blockade which severely pinched the economy of the eastern zone of divided Germany from July 26, 1948, on.

The United States will keep its airlift machine—the planes, men and directors who beat the Soviet blockade for 10 months—ready and waiting until they are reasonably sure Russia has no plans to set up another roadblock to Berlin.

The Russians, on the other hand, obviously are ready to drive a hard bargain at Paris. Russian stiffness broke up the last foreign ministers' meeting which tried to deal with Germany.

Judge Cash Retains St. Johns Lawyer In Sigler-Roth Battle

Lansing, May 5 (AP)—Circuit Judge Paul R. Cash of Alma today named Edward W. Fehling of St. Johns as his attorney to plead his case in the Sigler-Roth court fight.

Attorney General Stephen J. Roth has challenged Judge Cash's right to appoint former Governor Kim Sigler as special prosecutor in the Ivan Johnston bribery trial.

Roth asked the supreme court to issue an order blocking action by Cash and Sigler in the case. The attorney general argued that his office should try Johnston.

In another tangent of the tangled court battle, Judge Cash is now preparing a ruling on separate petitions by Roth and Sigler. Roth petitioned that Sigler be dropped and Sigler answered with a request that Roth be kept from intervening.

A hearing on those two petitions was held Monday in Mt. Clemens. Judge Cash said a ruling might be expected later this week.

PLYMOUTH SHUT DOWN

FORD PLANTS TO BE SOLD?

No Decision Made On U. P. Properties

Iron Mountain—Persistent reports that the Ford Motor company plans early abandonment and probable sale of its holdings and operations at Big Bay, L'Anse, Pequaming and Alberta in Upper Michigan brought a reply today from a company spokesman in Detroit that no "final decision" has been made in any matter affecting the Ford program in any of the U. P. communities.

Henry Ford II, president of the company, was away from his office today and could not be reached for comment. Likewise, Walter G. Nelson, superintendent of the Ford plant in Iron Mountain and manager of all Ford holdings and operations in the Upper Peninsula, is in Detroit and will not return until Saturday.

Rumors about possible major changes in Ford's Upper Michigan plants and holdings have been circulating several weeks past.

Top officials of the company last week visited the Iron Mountain, L'Anse and Big Bay properties. It also has been reported that a new survey of all Ford holdings in Upper Michigan is underway. The significance of this step, if these reports are true, has not yet been revealed.

Ford rumors are quick to start and because of the "reflex" of those in authority, are difficult to track down. However, repeated reports indicate some movement toward a change in the company's policy in Upper Michigan.

Restoration Work

At St. Mary's Is Now In Progress

Restoration of the interior of St. Mary's church at Hermansville which was swept by fire early this spring is now under way and plans approved by the Most Rev. Bishop Thomas L. Noa, include a number of improvements to the general structure.

Alex Raiche, a member of the parish, will supervise the work. The plans include enlargement of the parish hall, sacristy and sanctuary, an enlarged kitchen for the altar society, a club room and smoking room for the Holy Name society, and two new entrances at the rear of the church.

The interior will be refinished in decorating board, in blue, natural and ivory, statuary will be renewed, new art glass windows installed and a new main altar designed in conformity with the style of the church.

Work on the foundation is now in progress, and it is expected that the church will be ready for use in July.

Other officers elected were as follows: Mrs. Lillian Gordon of Perkins, vice president; Ivar Hanson of Nahma, treasurer; Mrs. W. Wikom, Kipling, re-elected secretary, and George Weininger, Rock, renamed delegate.

Sawdust Briquettes, Made At Houghton

Grand Rapids, (AP)—Development of a wood briquette, made from sawdust, for use in home furnace stokers was described here by an expert from the Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

Hereford Garland, director of the forest products research division of the Houghton, Mich., college, said the process was ready for release to commercial producers.

Garland said that while similar briquettes are being manufactured for fuel on the west coast, the Houghton process, utilizing a mixture of hard and soft wood sawdust, may replace stoker coal in areas where wood wastes are abundant.

Garland described the wood briquettes as being economical to manufacture, clean, free from clinkers, producing little ash, and having an easily controllable rate of combustion.

His report was presented at a session of the National Convention of the forest products research society.

Gladstone—The disappearance a month ago of Mrs. Clarence (Lillian) Cayer, 32, of Rock, with her one-year-old son was reported to Michigan state police yesterday by her husband.

Mrs. Cayer was last seen on April 4 in Gladstone.

State police said Cayer told them his wife had in the past left him but usually returned within eight or ten days.

Tourist Council Favors Earlier Walleye Opening

The Delta County Tourist Council in meeting last night at Gladstone city hall indicated it will advocate an earlier opening of the hook and line walleye fishing season on Lake Michigan, but will not make a final recommendation until it has conferred with Stanley Leviens, Escanaba district fish biologist of the conservation department.

The walleye season for hook and line fishing on Lake Michigan does not open until May 21.

Presiding at the meeting was Walter O'Brien of Bay View, president of the Tourist Council.

Members of the Council conferred with a representative of the Delta-Menominee health district on sanitation inspections of tourist and resort places. The council proposes to ask for inspection by health department sanitarians of all private homes where lodgings are offered the tourist, so that a Tourist Council certificate of approval may be issued them.

Nevin Reynolds, Escanaba city councilman, suggested to the Tourist Council that its forthcoming Delta county tourist guide book and map stress the opportunities for sports to be found in the county, including tennis, swimming, boating, golf and other facilities.

A plan to make a survey and list boat rental establishments in the county, together with information on rates and species of fish to be taken, was approved.

It is also planned to list stores, shops and other places serving the tourist that keep open at "unusual hours."

Claude Tobin of Escanaba was named to direct a "clearing house" for tourist lodgings in the county, a service designed to assist visitors in finding lodging when the seasonal rush is on.

It was reported that Bill Loder of Bark River is establishing a tourist information service there. The Tourist Council members enjoyed colored moving pictures of the 1948 Gladstone Roleo.

The statue Vulcan in Birmingham, Ala., is second in size only to the Statue of Liberty.

Hope Dim For Four Trapped 800 Feet Down In Mine Fire

Girardville, Pa., May 5. (P)—Faint hope was held out today for four men trapped 800 feet underground in a burning anthracite mine since Tuesday night.

As rescue crews stood by, compressors pumped life-giving air into the shaft and huge fans attempted to clear away the smoke and fumes.

Timothy A. Ryan, state mine inspector, said tests of the fumes at the pithead indicated a monoxide content as high as 10 per cent. One-half of one per cent normally proves fatal.

A night force of eight men was in the shaft—the No. 5 colliery of the Gilbert Coal company—when fire broke out Tuesday night. Four miners managed to reach the surface, although partially overcome by smoke and gases.

The mine's communication system was cut off by the fire and no sound has come from the trapped men since then.

For the past eight weeks she has made her home here with her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Erickson, 1014 Sheridan Road.

Mrs. Petersen, a member of the Trinity Lutheran church in Stonington, was born Nov. 15, 1863, in Als, Denmark. She was married in Stonington, May 12, 1896. The couple were to observe their 55th wedding anniversary next Thursday.

Houghton Attorney Raps State Public Service Commission

Lansing, May 5. (P)—Governor Williams hinted today he may seek to infiltrate the State Public Service commission, with which he has indicated he does not agree.

His comment followed a protest filed by Joseph M. Donnelly, Houghton attorney, against the commission's granting of an interim rate increase to the Upper Peninsula Power Company.

Donnelly protested that the commission had not served the public interest.

Williams said "the thing in my mind is that it is not too far from July 2, when I will have one foot in the door."

He referred to the fact that the term of Henry L. Woolfenden, Jr., Birmingham Republican, will expire as a member of the commission July 2.

The governor said he would consult with Attorney General Stephen J. Roth concerning Donnelly's complaint.

William Seaquist, 69, Dies At Nahma

William Seaquist, 68, an itinerant woods worker employed by the Bay de Noc company for several years, was found dead yesterday in his small home two miles east of Nahma along the shore of Big Bay de Noc. He had been dead for several days, sheriff's officers reported.

Last seen Sunday by his neighbors, his body was found when Joseph Sefcik, manager of the Bay de Noc store at Nahma, became concerned over Seaquist's failure to come to the store, which he usually visited every day.

At Sefcik's request Ed Olson of Pine Grove went to Seaquist's home, where he found him dead in bed at 6 p. m. yesterday.

The body was taken to the Alto funeral home in Escanaba and burial was made this afternoon in Lakewood cemetery with the Rev. John Anderson officiating.

There are no known relatives. Seaquist was reported by officers to have halted work and retired to his home about two months ago.

Quadruplets Born To Young New York Couple; 2 Of Each

New York, May 5. (P)—The new members of the Collins family—all four of them—were doing nicely today.

That was the report from Lebaron hospital, where Mrs. Ethel Collins, 27, gave birth to two boys and two girls yesterday.

The quadruplets weighed a total of 17 pounds and 14 ounces at birth.

Mrs. Collins had been expecting triplets. When she learned there were four instead of three babies, she murmured:

"My, how wonderful!"

The father, Charles Collins, 29, a brokerage office clerk, got the news by telephone. His comment: A long whistle.

Quadruplets occur about once in every 674,000 births. An average of three sets a year are born alive in the United States.

The babies, placed in an incubator, were put on a diet of sugar and water, with feedings every three hours.

Late today, they'll begin getting a bulk food formula of evaporated milk, water and carbohydrates.

The hospital said all four babies were delivered within five minutes.

Charles Gehringer In 'Hall of Fame'

New York, May 5. (P)—Charles Gehringer, former star second baseman of the Detroit Tigers, was voted into baseball's Hall of Fame today by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Gehringer, a stylist both at the plate and in the field, spent 18 seasons with the Tigers and retired from active play at the end of the 1941 campaign with a lifetime batting average of .321. He returned to coach the Bengals in 1942, then quit to become a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy.

Gehringer becomes the 56th baseball man to gain a niche in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Mel Ott, former star player and manager of the New York Giants, was second in the voting.

Chicago averages about 53 snowfalls a year while New York has an average of about 35.

Deal Closed With Big Four Harmony To Lift Blockade

of negotiations in United Nations headquarters and in New York.

Trygve Lie, who as secretary-general of the U. N. has been in a delicate position between eastern and western pressures, said the agreement "opens the way to new efforts for a settlement of the German problem, one of the main causes of the great power differences which have so far hampered the work of the United Nations."

Lie hailed the agreement as "a great step forward for peace and the strengthening of the United Nations." That it might well turn out to be—but there was some salve for Moscow in the fact that it had been able to keep the U. N. Security Council from dealing decisively with the Berlin issue.

Andre Y. Vishinsky, now Soviet Foreign Minister, kept the Security Council from moving into an area where Russia didn't want it to tread. He did it by vetoing last October a resolution which would have had the four powers lift their restrictions on Berlin and then seek agreement through the military governors of Germany.

Vishinsky contended that the Foreign Ministers Council, not the Security Council, was the place to discuss German questions. In that phase, at least, Russia can count, some measure of victory.

Soviets Not Changed
Today Moscow's press and radio told its people of the agreement without editorial comment. But the Russian views were reflected in their press elsewhere.

In Germany, for instance, the Soviet-licensed press said the Allies had "backed down" in agreeing to the four-power talks. It said the Communist military victories in China and the Communist "peace" demonstrations in New York, Paris and Prague recently were factors in this.

The west now comes to a major battle of the cold war—the diplomatic fight for Germany.

This phase opens at Paris May 23. Some American officials in Germany expect the Russians then will shift from a policy of obstruction to one of co-operation designed to give them the strongest voice possible in a central government of a unified Germany.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the retiring U. S. military governor of Germany, has sounded a note of warning that Communism has not changed its stripes. He expects the airlift to continue until the western sectors of Berlin have a stockpile of 200,000 tons of supplies on hand.

The airlift has made a job the Russians probably thought impossible. It cost the Americans more than $173,000,000 and the British millions of pounds to do the job. It cost almost 50 American and British lives. Besides resisting the Russians, it gave the western armed forces many valuable lessons in organization.

Meanwhile, the planners of the west German Republic are going ahead with the final drafting of a constitution. The west has given no indication of willingness to abandon that idea. It will be on the agenda of the Big Four at Paris.

The restrictions in Berlin began in March, 1948, when the Russians placed hampering regulations on rail traffic. On June 24, the blockade became complete, and soon thereafter the western counter-blockade was in effect.

Urbanc, Gonsowski Elected Directors Of Local ABA Unit

Members of the Escanaba-Delta Artificial Breeding association, meeting last night in first annual session at Bark River, elected two directors and heard reports on the success of the first year of operations. About 70 persons attended the meeting.

Adolph Urbanc of Bark River Rt. 1 was elected a director to succeed Elmer Lepisto of Rock, who is now affiliated with the Rock-Delta ABA following the recent organization of that unit; and James Gonsowski of Escanaba Rt. 1, who succeeds Charles Cota as a director of the Escanaba-Delta ABA unit.

Richard Johnston of Ensign presided as chairman of the association. Oral Thompson of Cornell presented a financial report for the first year's operations; and a progress report was made by Paul Corcoran of Escanaba, inseminator of the association.

George Parsons, dairy extension specialist of Michigan State College, talked to the group on the importance of using proven sires in a bull stud in building up dairy herd production. His talk was illustrated with charts on the herd at the U. S. Department of Agriculture experiment station at Beltsville, where a breeding program has been carried on with proven sires since 1919.

About a dozen members of the Escanaba-Delta ABA from the Rock area of the county were transferred to the Rock-Delta association.

would tie up the vast industrial system within nine days. Ford has 49 plants and 106,000 production workers.

The union's speed-up charge alleged that the company was not maintaining assembly lines at the correct ratio between speed and manpower. In other words, the union believed too much work was being required of too few men.

Ford said the lines were going at the normal rate and demanded that the union submit the issue to arbitration. The company said the union's refusal to do this was a violation of the contract.

Ford Vice President John S. Bugas said just before the break-off of negotiations that there was "no hope of settlement."

Entering the talks for the first time at 10 a. m. today, UAW President Walter Reuther said the strike could be settled by a written agreement.

Reuther said that adjustment of production standards at the B building of the Rouge plant and at Lincoln-Mercury to standards in the rest of the industry would end the strike. He said if Ford would sign an agreement to this effect, the walkout would be called off.

Sound trucks appeared at the main gates, blaring, "we're willing to stay out until Christmas if necessary."

Gunmen Get $25,000 In Holdup Of Two Cleveland Bankers

Cleveland, May 5. (P)—Four masked gunmen held up two bank officials shortly before noon today and escaped with approximately $25,000 in cash.

Victims of the holdup were Arthur Bizza, 62, a teller, and George Ziemba, 72, vice president of the Lincoln Heights Savings and Loan Co., 2247 Professor avenue.

Big City Crime Is Rarity Here

FEW incidents in recent years have aroused so much local public discussion as the theft of $22,000 worth of jewels from a diamond salesman on a routine business call in Escanaba last week. That is understandable enough. Robberies of this magnitude are rare in this locality. Professional thieves such as those who pulled the gem snatch here seldom find good pickings in towns the size of Escanaba. They prefer the large metropolitan areas where wealth is in greater abundance.

Local amateur detectives—of which we never knew so many existed here—are having a field day with this puzzler in crime. Theories and suggestions for solving the crime are numerous and varied.

We point out these things simply to call attention to the fact that living in a small town is a lot of fun. A professional jewel robbery is such a rare occurrence that when one does occur, it stimulates the thinking of the entire community. Furthermore, it calls attention to the fact that big city crime is such a rarity in our lives.

We like it that way, too.

House Approves Wood Labor Bill

THE administration-supported attempt to settle the Taft-Hartley labor act and substitute for it a modified version of the old Wagner act has been killed in the house of representatives.

Confronted with certain defeat of their own proposal, the Truman forces at the last minute shifted support to a compromise measure that would have retained some portions of the T-H act, including a provision for 80-day injunctions to forestall national emergency strikes. This compromise also was defeated.

Finally the house approved the bill submitted by Rep. Wood, of Georgia. This bill is virtually a carbon copy of the Taft-Hartley act, except that it provides for a new name for the labor measure and makes some minor revisions of the act.

Just what the senate will do with the labor bill remains to be seen. Barring a sharp reversal of sentiment, it seems certain that if any new labor law is enacted in the present session of congress, it will bear a close resemblance to the statute that organized labor leaders continue to deride as a "slave labor law." The congressional vote seems to indicate conclusively enough that labor bosses have not succeeded too well in convincing the public that the T-H act really is unfair to the workers.

When congress convened it was predicted that repeal of the T-H act would be among the first items of business. Even then congressional reluctance to change signals was evidenced and as the session wore on, the efforts to go back to the old Wagner act with all its prejudices weighted on the side of unionism drew less support.

Illinois Newsmen Disgraced Press

THE newspaper profession justifiably feels a deep sense of shame in the Illinois political scandal. The story recently uncovered by the Chicago Daily News and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch revealed that at least 37 Illinois newspapermen were on the payroll of the former Governor Green administration, drawing what obviously was graft money from the former Governor Green and his henchmen. The newspapermen were listed on secret payroll records as investigators, messengers, field men, clerks.

None of these men was hired to perform useful duties in the interests of the state. They were simply bought by Gov. Green and his administration to use their influence and the influence of their papers on behalf of the Green political machine. In selling out to the Green administration, these newspapermen violated the integrity of the newspaper profession. They cheated their employers, but even worse, they cheated their readers who had a right to expect fair and impartial treatment of political news.

The shadow of shame that the 37 Illinois newspapermen spread over the journalistic profession is at least partially erased by the fact that their betrayal of public trust was uncovered by other newspapermen. Roy J. Harris of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and George B. Himm of the Chicago Daily News did the spadework that brought this disgraceful situation to the attention of the public. They richly deserve the thanks of the American press and the people of this country for a meritorious job of public service.

Soviets Explain Scientific Claims

SOVIET propagandists, who have laid claim to all those inventions on behalf of their countrymen, have at last invented something themselves. It is an explanation of why so many discoveries have been credited to non-Russians like Edison and the Wright brothers. The Russian navy publication Red Fleet explains it thus:

"The struggle for priority in capitalist countries merges into a struggle to ascribe as many scientific discoveries as possible to the scholars of one's own nationality and race at the expense of other nationalities and races. The more rapacious and piratical the imperialism of the given country, the more insolent and crude is the 'spiritual expansion' of its historians of science."

There you have it, neat as a mathematical formula. False claims of achievement for a country's scientists are in direct proportion to the imperialistic ambitions of a country's government.

Silly as that sounds, the propagandists must have thought it necessary to come up with some story. For a lot of Russians probably have wondered how it was, even if their propagandists spoke the truth, that this wrong impression about electric lights and airplanes and such had been so persistent for so many years.

Now it's all clear. The discrepancy fits right in with the west's pattern of "imperialism." Further, the western countries had been telling their imperialistic lies for a couple of hundred years.

But it may be that a few of the more logical-minded Russians are still wondering as they read the honor roll of their unsung inventors. There was the remarkable Lemonssov, for instance. According to Soviet propaganda, he discovered the secrets of atomic energy and cosmic rays and also made a clockwork model of a helicopter back in the 1750s.

It was Ivan Polzunov, not James Watt, who invented the steam engine. Russians gave the world the caterpillar tractor before 1850, and several types of tractor motors in the second half of the 19th century. One Ladygin beat Edison to the electric light by six years. A. S. Popov was sending and receiving radio messages before Marconi. And so on.

Reading these claims and perhaps believing them, the logical-minded Russian must wonder why it was that other countries not only took these discoveries but also developed them. Czarist Russia, he knows, was bad. But how could this scientific progress have flourished in the monarcho-monopoly capitalist countries, which he knows were just as bad?

PRINTING IT IN RED (Milwaukee Journal)

The Communists in Russia and the Communists in the United States are always attacking the American press. This is because they recognize it as a major obstacle in their conspiratorial program. They claim that it is unfair, dishonest, unethical, contentious and reactionary. The Daily Worker leads the campaign of calumny.

At hand is the Daily Worker of April 26 with two stories describing the previous day's trial of the 11 American Communist leaders before Federal Judge Medina. On the witness stand that day was Garfield Herron, a government witness, who told of his years as a member of the Communist party in Illinois.

Here are some of the words, phrases and sentences in the Daily Worker about Garfield Herron and the trial:

"A big, grinning character from Little Rock, Ark., a mental shirker who entered the underworld of FBI antilabor informers. . . Weak, petty FBI informer. . . Stool pigeon. . . The Arkansas informer sat clumsily in the witness stand. . . He blurted out a few brief answers, then sat silent, squinting. . . The prosecution has reverted to the old police method of frameup, with its stool pigeons and show of force."

This, we take it, is honest, fair objective and impartial reporting of a news event—in the Communist manner.

AIDS FOR LOCAL SCHOOLS (Washington Star)

It is one thing to talk of federal aid or state aid when money for education remains inadequate after the people in the localities have done their best to provide sufficient funds. But the situation is quite different when people at the local level are satisfied with what they have or, though dissatisfied, simply shirk their duty to provide something better. And there is a great deal more shirking than one might think from listening to some of the discussions of this problem.

A WORD OR TWO ABOUT DICTIONARIES

Charlotte: I object to your mention of "first choice" pronunciations as given by the dictionaries. To my knowledge none of the modern dictionaries list the pronunciation of words in order of preference. In my linguistic work under Dr. —, at Michigan State college, it was constantly stressed that the first pronunciation given by dictionaries is not necessarily the preferred pronunciation.—F. W. V.

A. I am afraid you and Dr. — have jumped to an erroneous conclusion which, I may add, is shared by many well educated persons. Let me quote from a few of the dictionaries in my library: Webster's New International, Second Edition, page xxiii: ". . . there is usually at least a slight preponderance of evidence in favor of the first pronunciation, which may be regarded as the preferred form." Also, in the February, 1938, issue of Webster's magazine Word Study, we find: "When two pronunciations are given, it is fair to say that the first is preferred." The American College Dictionary, Random House, page xxxix: "The first pronunciation shown is, as a rule, the form in widest general use." The New College Standard, Funk and Wagnalls, page viii: "The order of listing indicates that the first (pronunciation) appears to be the current preference." Macmillan's Modern Dictionary, page xi: "If more than one pronunciation is accepted, . . . the preferred form being given first." Thorndike Century: "If another allowable pronunciation is very common among edu-

Fear Shutdown Of Industries

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—While members of the house struggle toward some sort of agreement on the terms of a labor bill, many eyes are fixed on a dark cloud on the immediate horizon. It could mean a tornado, a cyclone or, maybe, just an old-fashioned blow.

The cloud that disturbs many members is the imminent fourth round of wage increases in coal, steel, automobiles, electric manufacturing. Out of this fourth round can come a national shutdown such as occurred three years ago with such far-reaching political and economic consequences.

The power of the unions in these industries and their ability to shut down the nation's economy has a lot to do with the decision congress will make. It is doubtful that a substitute labor bill can be finally approved that does not contain a provision giving the government the right to ask the courts for an injunction to stop a strike threatening a national emergency.

COOLING-OFF PERIOD

When they are candid, administration leaders will admit this. Realists within the trade unions also see it as more or less inevitable and, when they are talking privately, they acknowledge it will not be too harmful.

There was one dramatic move that might have assured the timid. That would have been a public statement signed by all top union leaders declaring that they would abide by a presidential request for a 30-day cooling-off period before calling a nation-wide strike. The administration bill provides for the 30-day period on order of the White House.

For a time Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin was hopeful that such a statement would be forthcoming. But one of the signers would necessarily have been John L. Lewis, and the boss of the United Mine Workers is sternly conditioned against any action in common with his fellow union bosses.

DEMOCRATS ARE DIVIDED

The struggle to agree on a substitute for the Taft-Hartley act shows up the political divisions within the Democratic party more clearly than any other issue. In the house you have right, left and middle. While the boundary lines are not closely drawn, nevertheless the three groups are very definitely divided.

To the left are the Democrats who go all out for the Truman pledge to repeal the Taft-Hartley act. They come, for the most part, from large cities where the labor vote is decisive. Some come out of the labor background and they owe their presence in the house to the active support of the unions.

To the right are the southern Democrats, joined with a majority of the Republicans. Their objective is to keep just as many of the restrictive provisions of Taft-Hartley as they can get away with and still defeat the administration. Rep. John S. Wood of Georgia has given his name to the bill that is the core of this strategy.

These men are from the south where the unions are still driving hard to organize the great mass of the unorganized. The fear is that the south's advantage is lower wages, which has helped attract away northern industry, would be lost with organization.

In the middle group are nearly a hundred Democrats. They come, many of them, from border states. In this middle group are such able and conscientious members as Rep. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma City.

FEAR NATION-WIDE STRIKE

There is not a happy position. It's much easier to be all for or all against an issue. But these men, who like to think of themselves as liberal and progressive on most questions, are an essential part of the Democratic party.

What the middle group fears is a nationwide strike in coal or steel in midsummer. Without any legal safeguards, such a strike could run on until industry has slowed to a virtual standstill.

It was inevitable, in my opinion, that Speaker Sam Rayburn should consider the feelings of this middle group. To ignore them was to risk driving them into the Republican-southern coalition.

Labor's deep distrust of the injunction in any shape or form is understandable. Since its abuses in the past have been many and flagrant. That distrust is shared by men in both parties and particularly in the senate. It comes close to abrogating the basic right that no man shall be compelled to work against his will. In the present era of troubled uncertainty it may be necessary as a temporary expedient. But it should be considered as merely a temporary step, to be discarded when patterns of collective bargaining are more nearly regularized on a basis of mutual responsibility.

cated people, it is given a second pronunciation." Kenyon and Knott's Pronouncing Dictionary, page xxvii: "For words that are in general colloquial use it is intended to give first those believed to be the more usual colloquial pronunciations."

I have noticed that many of the second choice pronunciations which appear in the dictionaries are obsolescent, if not actually obsolete. One or two examples: The second choice pronunciation for the word chifton in the American College Dictionary is given as: SHIF-on. The second choice pronunciation for the word baton is given as BAT-un. The second choice pronunciation for farina in the New Century Dictionary is fuh-RY-nuh. The second choice pronunciation for the word garage in Funk and Wagnalls New Standard is gar'dige, etc. Now of course no one ever uses such pronunciations. They may have been heard at some time in the past, but it was long before these ears began to listen to correct American speech.

If you are consistent in believing that the second pronunciation is just as correct as the first, then you will have to argue for the correctness of SHIF-on, BAT-un, fuh-RY-nuh, gar'dige, which, of course, you could not and would not do.

We Don't Believe It Can Be Done

Good Evening By Clint Dunathan

WHAT THEY WANT—Now the "Michigan on Canvas" exhibit has moved on to new fields and the result of voting on "the favorite picture" is made known here. The art critics are again confounded.

For the Michigan scene receiving by far the popular vote of folks from the Escanaba area was Ogden Pleissner's "Fishing the Au Sable." You may recall that "Fishing the Au Sable" faithfully depicted a stretch of river with two men wading trout lines from a canoe. The water shimmered and swirled, a faint haze of fog lifted from the river beyond the bend, and the men in the canoe were intent on their sport. Trees along the river looked just like trees.

NOT PHOTOGRAPHIC—The art critics, those wisecracks who can and do tell the public what it should enjoy in pictures, would call "Fishing the Au Sable" a too literal and photographic representation of the scene. It is "calendar art," they say scathingly, believing they have voiced a criticism so convincing that realism in art will be forever discredited.

Pleissner's pictures are not "photographic." They exceed photography in bringing to the spectator an emotional reaction to the beauty of nature. They are sufficiently realistic to inspire in the spectator that feeling of kinship with the subject that marks the successful painter.

PLEASURE—Pleissner's painting, one among 100 painted by ten artists, was not outstanding and was not hung in a place of prominence in the exhibit at Escanaba. In fact it was tucked discreetly away in a corner, although adequately framed and lighted, as were the works of all the artists.

The average normal person approaches painting with the same attitude he displays toward everything else in life: Does it please me?

Americans have been called lowbrow because they cannot find pleasure in some of the distorted examples of art created by musicians, painters and sculptors.

It would be better for the artist—and the critic—to examine the product for its faults than the audience and spectators for their appreciative failings.

You can often fool the critics, but you can seldom convince people they must accept something in which they find no pleasure.

ELEVATING—People in the majority do not want to be "educated," "elevated," or "cultured" by pictures. Sometimes through pressure applied by the critics they will adopt a false standard in their approach to paintings and will try to convince themselves and their friends that they "just love" some of the botches foisted upon the public as "art." They are the faddists for whom a little knowledge is a dangerous thing.

NOT DEPLORABLE—Still speaking from the viewpoint of the average guy who likes to see painting resemble something reasonable, I do not consider the "Michigan on Canvas" exhibit either startling "modern" nor placidly "traditional."

There was variety in subject, in treatment, in technique and in the materials employed by the artists

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—Stanley St. Louis left yesterday for a six-months European tour during which he will visit in Germany, Switzerland, England, Italy, France and the Scandinavian countries. En route he will visit with his brothers Harry of Detroit and George of Washington, D. C.

Escanaba—The Hiawatha club of the University of Michigan, an organization of Upper Peninsula students, elected Phil Westbrook, Jr., of Escanaba, president at a recent meeting. He succeeds Wheaton L. Strom of Escanaba, a law student. Westbrook is a junior in the college of literature, science and arts and is majoring in economics.

Rock—Pearl Kaminen and Ruth Kaukola are high honor students in the Rock graduating class of 1939. It was announced today by Miss Florence McLain, principal, Manistiquette—Mr. and Mrs. Victor Peterson are the parents of a daughter born May 4 at Mary's Maternity Home.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba—H. J. Fillion and family have left for Chicago where they will make their home. Gladstone—Miss Bernice Swan, R. N. of Evanston, Ill., is visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Swan.

Manistiquette—Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Gero are the parents of a son born May 4.

So They Say

The United Nations remains today the cornerstone of effective international action to maintain peace and security and promote higher standards of welfare throughout the whole world.—Australian Minister for External Affairs Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, president of the UN General Assembly.

It is my dear wish that we could be friends of the Russian people if we could only get to them we would be glad to stretch out the hand of friendship.—Winston Churchill.

According to the "favorite picture" voting, the majority of those who saw the pictures in Escanaba turned thumbs down on the amusingly cute, the flamboyantly grotesque, the formless wisp, and the hectic impressionism.

It is a tribute to Pleissner that in Escanaba seven of his paintings were named among the first fifteen favorites in the exhibit.

Failure of Escanaba people to vote for something they do not like does not set them down as uncultured and ignorant of the higher things in the world of art. Far from being deplorable, our people have shown remarkable good judgment in joining forces with millions of other Americans who are growing weary of viewing pictures more concerned with the soul of the artist than the subject presented.

STIMULATING—The exhibition has stimulated discussion among those who saw it. The pleasant and acceptable paintings were praised, the less pleasant and acceptable were sometimes caustically criticized. As one man commented after viewing a scene with square clouds in a sky filled with confetti: "If that guy had one picture in here that showed he could really paint what he sees I might think he was a good painter gone haywire. The way it is, he's just haywire."

New York (AP)—Since this is National Boys and Girls Week, it's a good time to do something for the boys and girls.

But what to do? Well, one thing we could do is ask Congress to pass a Bill of Rights for childhood.

There is a lobby in Washington for every other group in America, from the marijuana growers protective association to the society against the importation of foreign-made manhole covers. Yes, they all have a voice—all except the children.

So why not a lobby of, by and for the kids?

A good children's lobby might be able to break up the worst cartel in the world—the cartel of parenthood. As it is now, adults tell children how to behave, but children have no way in which to compel bare-brained adults to live in a responsible manner.

Congress could end this nonsense by setting up a national system of parents' courts—with children sitting as judges.

A present junior has no recourse from the stupidity of his parents. But if he could call the cops, and haul them into court to be tried by a child's stern sense of justice—oh, boy!

"Listen Pop," says Junior, "I want you to tell the judge here whom you was boozing with the night you said you was going to the baseball game. And quit smirking, mom. You tell the judge about that freckle-faced salesman you're so palsy-walsy with."

Parents Need Schooling

Congress might endow some schools for parents, too. It wouldn't hurt many parents to go to school one day a week, sit side by side with their own children and learn about the world together.

Too many children are torn between two worlds—the world of ideals and fair play at school, the world of tension, bitterness and opportunism at home.

Personally, I think it would be a good thing if children gradually took over control of the world. If they weren't so kind-hearted, they would have long ago.

And why shouldn't they? Who commits most of the sins and crimes against mankind—children or grownups?

Well, then, shouldn't children rule adults, since adults are the most dangerous troublemakers?

Good men would be foolish if they all went to jail and turned the criminals free. And children have been foolish all these centuries to let themselves be tyrannized by adults—adults added by their own childish frustrations.

Why do we say youngsters are the hope of tomorrow unless their parents are the despair of today? Come, little children. Take the lead. And the world will follow.

In this age material power must be controlled by something higher than itself. It must be controlled by moral power.—Dr. D. H. Andrews, professor of chemistry, Johns Hopkins University.

Freedom of ideas helped produce the atom bomb, which many consider our greatest weapon. Actually, our greatest weapon is freedom itself.—Lynn A. Williams Jr., vice president, University of Chicago.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—The Truman program continues to be slowed down in the senate. This is partly because the president's key leaders have been torn apart by personal feuds or mowed down by sickness and exhaustion.

Majority Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois has been in the hospital, worn out by the gruelling grind of trying to keep Democratic forces together. Before going to the hospital he had wrangled with Sen. Howard McGrath, chairman of the Democratic national committee. McGrath according to a complaint Senator Lucas made to the White House, was trying to steal the spotlight as senate spokesman. And this in turn brought some sour private comments from McGrath about Lucas.

Meanwhile, two other senate figures have been in the hospital—Senate Secretary Biffle and Majority Secretary "Skeeter" Johnson. The Democrats have learned heavily upon Biffle to keep peace between the senate and the White House, and Biffle's office has been a rendezvous where Democratic troubles were patched up over a glass of bourbon.

Before going to the hospital, Biffle himself clashed with the senate's president pro tem, Senator McKellar of Tennessee.

On the more optimistic side, however, many Democratic committee chairmen have plugged ahead with legislation, and several key measures, such as federal-aid-to-education, are all set for debate.

NORWAY—"A BRITISH DOMINION"?

British Foreign Minister Ernie Bevin is a lot more pleased than Trygve "Trigger" Lie over the inclusion of Norway in the Atlantic pact—and Lie told him so when Bevin was in this country for the pact signing.

Bevin was jubilant over what he called the "brave stand" taken by Norway in joining the pact despite the persistent neutrality of Sweden. Meeting Lie, who is now secretary general of the United Nations, Bevin said:

"By this act you have moved closer to us. We feel toward you as we would toward one of our own dominions."

To which Trygve Lie, with heavy sarcasm, replied, "Thank you!"

Note—Lie says privately he would not have come running to Washington if he had been Norwegian foreign minister—as he was once. He would have waited for the possible common action of all three Scandinavian countries.

SOUTHERN CHAMPIONS NEGRO

President Truman heard some straight-from-the-shoulder advice on the question of Negro education the other day from a southern congressman who gets around in a wheelchair. The White House visitor was 33-year-old Congressman Charles Bennett of Florida.

Bennett served 58 months as an infantryman, won the coveted silver star for bravery, came out a captain, his legs crippled by polio contracted while fighting with Philippine guerrillas.

However, this doesn't interfere with Bennett's legislative interests, one of which is a burning zeal to improve educational opportunities for southern Negroes.

"The federal government can't be proud of the way it has failed to deal with illiteracy among the Negroes," the young Floridian told Truman. "What many people forget is that the government countenanced slavery before the Civil War. In fact, a lot of the slave trade was carried on by northerners."

"Then, when slavery was abolished by fire and sword—"

"You remind me of my mother," broke in the president, who comes from Confederate stock on his maternal side.

"Well, I don't mean to be waving the Confederate flag," explained Bennett, "but it's nonetheless a fact that the government left Negro ex-slaves and their families to shift for themselves after the Civil War was over. The very least we can do now is to provide better and more schools to counteract the illiteracy that has resulted from that situation."

Truman promised to consider legislation Bennett has introduced to provide additional school facilities for Negro students—if congress doesn't meet the need in the federal-aid-to-education program.

ALLIED TROOPS OUT OF GERMANY?

One of the toughest problems Russia is likely to raise at the foreign ministers' conference is a proposal to withdraw all troops from Germany—both Russian and French—British—American. This would leave a German Communist army, trained by the Russians, in control of eastern Germany and it wouldn't take long for this army to take over Western Germany.

Secretary of State Acheson has been doing some quiet conferring with the British as to how to meet this problem, and they have now decided that the Western Allies will counter Russia's proposal with one of their own. They will demand that Eastern Germany be merged with the free western zones into a new German state.

The western zones, they believe, are now sufficiently strong to dominate Eastern Germany, once the Red army evacuates. But in any case they believe their proposal would never be accepted by the Russians and hence the troops of neither side would be withdrawn.

HOME-TOWN BOY MAKES GOOD

About the first man Jess Larson met after he was appointed Federal Works administrator was Dave Vandivier, publisher of the Chickasha, Okla., Express. Meeting Larson by accident in the lobby of the Mayflower hotel, Vandivier said:

"One of the first projects we're going to put up to you is the new water works for your home town."

"I guess that's the water works I started when I was mayor," recalled new Federal Works Administrator Larson. He referred to the fact that he took his first plunge in public office as mayor of Chickasha, at that time the youngest mayor in the United States. The water works he provided for the city at that time now has been outmoded by the city's growth.

Larson promised his home-town publisher that he would look into the matter.

Remember Mother— And Help Business

By SAM DAWSON

New York, (AP)—Mother is being loved this week, in all the nation's shops, as she never has been loved before. Not only the storekeepers, but also the florists, telegraph companies, public carriers, candy makers, and a host of manufacturers, all hope you won't forget mother next Sunday. They need the business.

There's no doubt of your love for mother, who deserves every bit of it. But businessmen, who need some sales volume right now, think that she also deserves some gifts.

This year the stores are trying to interest the nation's sons and daughters in buying a number of things they hadn't particularly associated with Mother's Day before. Major home appliances, for example. Stores are particularly anxious to stimulate lagging sales in this department.

Many stores are calling attention to improved models in some cases lower prices on this class of merchandise. The federal reserve board has come to their aid, by relaxing the terms on which you can buy mother the electrical gadget that will make housework a pleasure.

You can delight her—this Sunday and be reminded of your loving deed the first of each month for a long time to come.

Some stores are making it hard to forget Mother's Day. To the children, they point out by advertisement or store display, what they can buy their mother for a dollar. Smack in the middle of the men's department in some stores you'll find a gift counter full of women's accessories—to remind an absent-minded man who might be startled by such a sight, to buy something for mother.

The florists, who have been having a bad time of it the last few months, are counting heavily on your urge to give mother posies and they're trying some new gimmicks. They're teaming up with the department stores to offer combination sales. Send mother certain merchandise and get a half dozen roses thrown in.

However, if your mother is like some we know, you can't get off with just sending flowers. She is apt to want an airplane trip to Bermuda. Or two seats down front at the latest sell-out Broadway musical hit. Whatever happened to that little old lady in the grey poke bonnet, anyway?

Vulcan, the statue in Birmingham, Ala., is 53 feet high and weighs 120,000 pounds.

Coal And Iron Ore Belt Line Killed By Ohio Lawmakers

Columbus, O., (AP)—Hopes for a 120-mile $210,000,000 belt line to carry coal and iron ore more cheaply between Lake Erie and the Ohio river went glimmering Wednesday.

The House Commerce and Transportation committee voted 12-4 last night to kill the "rubber railway" bill by indefinite postponement.

Railroads and their brotherhoods had voiced bitter opposition to the project. They said it would cut rail business and cost them thousands of jobs.

The bill would have granted public utility status to the belt line, which would have permitted it to condemn and buy land for a Lorain-East Liverpool right-of-way. Spurs would serve Cleveland and Youngstown steel mills and coal users.

The Mardi Gras parade has been staged in New Orleans since 1838.

Fishing

As predicted, the peak of the perch fishing was reached at the weekend and on Sunday, when visitors from every surrounding community arrived, the weatherman obliged with fog which turned to a drizzle of rain. Catches were satisfactory in the morning but dwindled as the skies cleared. Traffic through the village was the heaviest yet this season and was noticeably more bright and colorful with a large percentage of new cars in evidence.

In the streams, the annual spawning runs began also and even the older residents declare suckers were never more abundant in the local creek, the bottom being solidly covered with writhing, wiggling bodies hurrying upstream. In the daytime the present popular pastime is spearfishing and dipping and the booty is carried off by the sackful.

Personals

Mrs. Fred Gauthier returned Saturday from Ypsilanti where she had visited with her daughter, Mrs. Russell Paulson for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lamkey, Mr. and Mrs. Art Bathke and Otto Steele of Milwaukee were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lamkey of Van's Harbor.

Harvey Ward and son John of Milwaukee came for fishing over the weekend and stayed at the George Boudreau sr. home.

Mrs. Elmer Bonifas, daughter, Mrs. Dick Hermes and granddaughter, Linda spent the weekend with relatives at Lake Linden.

COMMIES MAKE RUARK SMILE

Defies Reds To Match Sou Chan's Story

By ROBERT C. RUARK

New York.—Every time I hear the Paul Robesons and the other virtuous Communists sound off about the plight of the common man in this country I am apt to smile a little. Every time I hear the old party line plaint about the capitalist foot on the laboring neck, I suppress a giggle.

At those times I am thinking about my friend Mr. Chan—Mr. Sou Chan, formerly of Yingping, Canton province, China. It is a shame we cannot subdivide Mr. Chan and ship him all over Russia and his native China. Mr. Chan is what might be called a powerful piece of anti-Communist propaganda.

Came Without Dime

Sou was 20 years old when he arrived here 11 years ago. He spoke no word of English. He came of a poor farming family in Yingping. His education had been extremely sketchy. He worked in a weaving factory before his uncle Chan Lem sent him a ticket to come here. Sou didn't have a dime when he stepped off the ship.

Sou worked for a while in Portland, Ore., and a kind school-teacher named Euphemia Dimmick taught him English for the vast sum of $5 a month. He migrated later to Milwaukee and Chicago, where he worked as dishwasher, busboy and waiter. Sou came to New York in 1935. He got a job driving a truck, although he is as frail as a lily stalk. In three years of truck driving—he very often slept in his truck—Sou saved enough money to buy a restaurant. He paid $6,300 for it. He borrowed enough money from relatives and friends to fix it up. The House of Chan today could not be bought for a quarter-million bucks. It is packed to its teaky-looking rafters from noon until 2 a. m. I would not like to estimate Sou's annual income, but he drives a Cadillac, lives in a $50,000 house in Riverdale, and watches a television set worth 2000 clams.

Mr. Chan, though a touch past 40, looks about 19. He dresses as sharply as Clifton Webb. Mr. Chan winters in Florida, just like the rich reactionaries. When he did over his house, recently, the fancy decorators took it apart from top to bottom, and rearranged Mr. Chan's bankroll, too.

Mr. Chan lives as if he were born rich and Republican. He is a member of the Lions club, the Advertising club, and the Grand St. Boys club. He has been through the Dale Carnegie course. His English is still somewhat exotic, but very graphic, fluent, and spotted with words that would stun a student. His public speaking is, after the Carnegie treatment, completely uninhibited.

Mr. Chan is an exemplary family man. He married a pretty American girl of Chinese parentage. Viola came from Boston, making Sou an aristocrat according to American tradition, too. They have two fine, lusty kids. Stanley's Chinese name is Sou

Chew, which means, roughly "Intelligent Little Sailboat." Baby Beverly's name is Choon. Ling. That means "Spring Lotus." Young Stan speaks good Cantonese and excellent English.

Mr. Chan says that everywhere he has ever been people have been wonderful. Some of his best friends are Jewish, Chinese, Catholic and Protestant. A sampling of Chan's menagerie would list comic Fred Allen, labor leader Dave Dubinsky, singer Ray Middleton, Pulitzer prize winner Fred Wolman, novelist Baynard Kendrick, and actor Ralph Bellamy. Not customers—friends who visit his home. And oh, yes, I forgot to mention Mr. Massimiliano Truzzi, the great Russian juggler, and Mr. Henry Trefflich, the German-born animal trainer.

Mr. Chan is rich, and he spends $5,000 a year on a series of New Year's parties for his help. He is generous—he recently had his old teacher, Miss Dimmick, flown to New York as a Christmas treat.

He is still militantly Chinese, but has also become a passionate American.

He did all this in less than 20 years, a completely strange country. You think the victorious Reds in China can match the opportunity, or that Sou would have done as well as an immigrant to mother Russia?

Rolling and Cutting Machines Installed In Venus Plant Here

Rolling and cutting machines for bias have been installed at the Venus Sewing plant here and are now in operation. Mrs. Ella Almquist, supervisor, said today.

The plant, which is now making white and blue nylon and mesh undergarments, is producing about the same amount now as a year ago. The Roston brothers of Chicago employ 85 women in sewing operations here.

Today's Recipes

Mrs. Leonard Winling of Escanaba Route One has given the department her excellent recipe for honey requested a few days ago by Miss Alice Martin.

Honey

Five cups sugar
One cup water
One-half tsp. powdered alum
Boil two minutes
Add blossoms and simmer for five minutes—four roses, take centers out, five red clover and twelve white clover. Strain and seal.

An answer to another request, that for a recipe for Martha Washington pie, was in this morning's mail. This recipe and two other pie recipes that homemakers will be delighted to add to their collections come from an Escanaba reader.

Martha Washington Pie

One-third cup butter
One cup sugar
Two eggs
One and one-half cups flour
Two teaspoons baking powder
One-fourth teaspoon salt
One-half cup milk
One teaspoon vanilla
Three-fourths cup chopped nuts, walnuts or pecans
One-half pint cream
Citron and candied cherries.
Cream butter and sugar together. Add eggs beaten until light. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Beat thoroughly and add vanilla and nuts. Bake in two layer cake pans in a hot oven, when cool put whipped cream, sweetened and flavored between layers and on top. Decorate with candied cherries and citron cut in thin strips.

Jeff Davis Pie

Two cups sugar
One-half cup butter
Three eggs
Two cups sweet milk

Two tablespoons flour
One-half tsp. ground cloves
One tsp. ground cinnamon
One-half tsp. ground allspice
One-half tsp. grated nutmeg
One-fourth tsp. vanilla
Cream butter, sugar, eggs, add milk and flour, add spices. Bake in a lower crust of pastry. This recipe makes two pies.

Granny's One Crust Apple Pie
"Fourth of July Special"

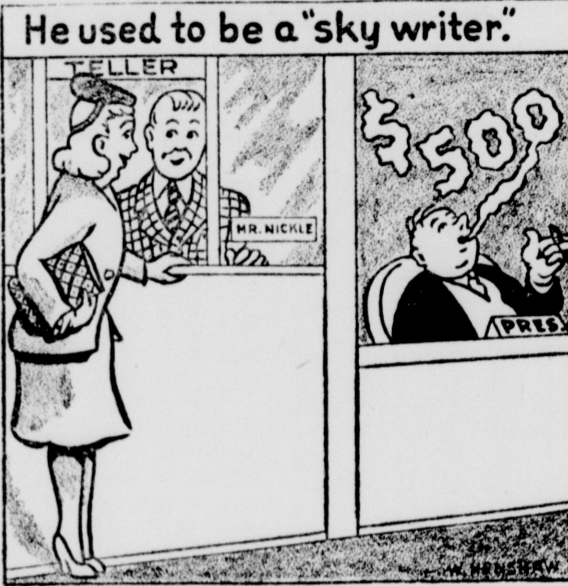

Pare and cut in halves enough good cooking apples to fill a deep uncooked pie shell. You may trim off the bottom of the apples so they will set in better. Then mix one cup sugar, two tablespoons flour, pretty well heaped, two heaping tablespoons butter. Work this together as for mixing cake and when all worked together mix with about one-third to one-half cup water. It should be about the consistency of pancake dough. Now pour over the apples and sprinkle generously with cinnamon and bake slowly until apples are done. This pie is splendid as it is but if you like something really extra make a meringue of two egg whites or serve the pie with whipped cream.

Spring Bonnets
Many spring hats will combine felt and lacy straws in two-tone color combinations.

If chicken fat is on hand, it may be used as the shortening in pastry for chicken or meat pie or turnovers.

It's Small World, Peg Learns In Oslo, Norway

By PEG BOLGER
Manager, News Bureau
Wisconsin Central Airlines

Oslo, Norway.—Sometimes I think I have "Wisconsin Central Airlines" stamped on my forehead because everywhere I go in Oslo, Norway I keep bumping into familiar Wisconsin Central cities. It's a very small world, it certainly is.

It began with my courtesy call to the American Embassy. Ted Olsen, who heads up press relations, said, "Oh, do you know Mr. Evjue in Madison?" Mr. Olsen knew Mr. Evjue by reputation he said, and I filled in with details about The Capital Times.

Miss Mary Richmond, also at the embassy, used to work for Harold Stassen when he was governor of Minnesota.

Alf Ihlen, one of Oslo's most distinguished citizens, (he's director of a manufacturing company, Strommens Verksted) was a college-friend of Mr. Evjue at the University of Wisconsin, and so the editor of The Capital Times became my link with Mr. Ihlen and responsible for one of the most interesting conversations I had in Norway. Mr. and Mrs. Ihlen are charming. They filled in the blank spots of my observations with a bit of Norway's history, pointed out places of interest, and gave me a little insight into what the Norwegians are thinking about. Uniting Western Europe, is an idea being taken to very favorably here, said Mr. Ihlen. Mrs. Ihlen painted a vivid picture of how Norwegian housewives make do with the strict rationing which is still in effect, an aftermath of the war . . . a story in itself if I had space to tell it. The Ihlens also have friends in LaCrosse, Wisconsin, and were visitors there a year ago.

Interviewed By Reporter
"Miss Veronica," pen name for Vera Hartman, pretty young redhead who writes for the Aftenposten, biggest newspaper in Norway, interviewed me the other day and that opened another series of contacts with home.

Miss Hartmann herself, has a sister, Hilda Abrahamson, in Duluth, Minnesota, and was interested in my description of Duluth. I've spent some time there on public visits for Wisconsin Central and compared the bustling northern city with Oslo.

Miss Hartmann's very flattering story and a flash-and-run picture of me ran in the morning issue of the Aftenposten and by afternoon messages were piled high in my box. Arne Stokstad called to say he had an uncle, Henrik Stokstad in Madison and other relatives in Edgerton. Other like messages are really too numerous to list.

Greetings With Violets
A call from the Bristol desk porter brought me downstairs to find a tall, sun-bronzed young man, holding a sweet smelling bunch of violets and grinning from ear to ear. The violets were to welcome me to Norway, he said, and there was also a pair of intricately designed Selbu votter, mittens knit in Trondhjem, his home town . . . and all because he had spent "a wonderful year in that wonderful city, Madison."

The young viking's name is Heige Ingeberg. He is a chemical engineer working in Oslo's smaller replica of The Forest Products Laboratory. In Madison, Mr. Ingeberg studied at the Forest Products Lab, and would I be so kind, he asked, to bear greetings to Anne Aronson, Dr. Stann's secretary at the lab and to the girls at Groves Co-op. (Hi girls) and to all his other friends in Wisconsin?

Mrs. Annie Schone asked me to help find her aunt. I'd like to. The lady is believed to be somewhere in Minnesota. Her name was Gunhilde Hansen and she is from Kleiver, Bratsberg, Skien in Norway. Her husband's name is Martin Tinsand. At one time, says Mrs. Schone, Mrs. Tinsand lived in "North Dakota, North America," but since she moved to Minnesota hasn't been heard from and her anxious relatives have lost the address.

Mrs. Schone's address is Thygesangsgaten 15, 2nd floor, Oslo, Norway. She would be very happy if the Minnesota papers receiving this story, would print that address and anyone knowing the whereabouts of Mrs. Martin Tinsand formerly Gunhilde Hansen, may contact Mrs. Schone there.

Paul Robeson On List
To continue the "small world" theme, included on the passenger list of the plane I will take for Stockholm is "Miss Metcalf," . . . home address, Madison, Wisconsin.

Paul Robeson, whose appearance here is causing much discussion, will also be on the plane, as will Mr. and Mrs. Harry Olsher.

Mr. Olsher is an executive with Ziff-Davis Publishing Co., and Mrs. Olsher an architect and designer in New York. I met them both the other morning. They were along in an SAS car on a drive to Vigeland Park and the Holmenkollen ski-jump. We looked at the fantastic sculptures of Mr. Vigeland, and the extraordinary monolith given so much publicity in the States, were fascinated by the old Viking ships in the Museum, (I maintain it's the Viking spirit in back of the Scandinavian airline leadership), lunched high above Holmenkollen on wonderfully prepared trout, admired the breath taking view, (it is an exaggerated Rib Hill View), took the trolley down the winding mountain back to the city, and all in all spent a very interesting day and plan to meet again in Stockholm. But before we started, and after introductions, Mr. Olsen turned to me and said, "Where is Wisconsin Central Airline's headquarters?" "In Madison, Wisconsin," I replied. His answer surprised me . . . but it shouldn't have. "In Madison! Why, I was born and raised there!"

And then do you know what he said? You've guessed it . . . "It's a small world."

SILCO WON'T FALL
Menominee, (AP)—A 60-year-old Menominee landmark still stood even though the man who bought it tried to raze it with dynamite. Mike Bauer of Menominee bought the landmark, a brick silo, to obtain bricks for a home. Then he set seven dynamite charges around its base. After the blasts, the silo bore seven holes but was still standing.

GUN STOLEN AGAIN
Saginaw, (AP)—Burglars won't let Robert Posey keep that pistol in his US-33 tavern. Taken in a December, 1947, burglary, the gun was recovered a year later when the thief was arrested. This week another burglar entered Posey's tavern, took the same gun and walked out.

STILL SERIOUSTimber Areas Still Dry
Says Forest Ranger

The danger from forest fires is far from over, W. G. Wilson, chief ranger of the Hiawatha National Forest area warns.

There have been rains and the forest areas are turning green, but this is one of the driest springs in years and the floor of the forest areas is still dry and crackling and a couple of dry and windy days will bring the hazard to a serious point again, he says.

Trout fishermen, evergreen harvesters and picnickers are urged to be particularly careful with the use of matches, campfires and cigarettes.

The federal forestry department is planting trees on a large scale in the Thompson area south of Highway U. S. 2. A crew of about twenty-five is being employed. About 600,000 trees will be planted in this project, Mr. Wilson states.

Churches Unite
In Observance Of Family Night

Several Protestant churches in Manistique are under joint auspices for the observance of Christian Family Week. On the evening of Wednesday, May 11, each of the participating congregations—Zion Lutheran, First Methodist, Presbyterian, and First Baptist—will observe "Community Family Night" gathering at the First Baptist church for a program of fun and fellowship.

The planning committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Wallace Severs, had planned the event for Friday of this week as this is the official week, but conflicting dates made this inadvisable. Plans for next Wednesday night's observance even take small children into consideration as a nursery, under the supervision of Mrs. Paul Olson is being provided for them.

Planned for the union meeting is a program consisting of group singing, a short sound movie entitled "Make Way for Youth and a short play "This Citadel of Faith" by James Breveld, presented by members from the various Protestant congregations.

The play is recommended by the committee as a good one, in which is shown how one Christian parts this year. It weighed one pound 15 ounces and measured 15 1/2 inches in length.

family practiced the Christian precepts in their daily living. Mrs. Arthur Thorpe is directing the play and the cast is as follows:

Narrator, Donald Dissinger, Presbyterian church.

Father, Clayton Reid, First Baptist church.

Mother, Mrs. William Norton, Presbyterian church.

Daughter, Lael Richards, First Methodist church.

Son, Maurice Creeger, Presbyterian church.

Neighbor, Mrs. Abel Willcock, First Methodist church.

Neighbor, Miss Lorraine Anderson, Zion Lutheran church.

The committee extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend the exercises at the First Baptist church. The program starts at 7:30 o'clock.

Recruiters Stress
Value of Schooling

Before an assemblage of sophomore, junior and senior boys at Gladstone high school yesterday, Sgt. Scheer of the U. S. Recruiting service showed pictures of paratrooper training and explained what the services had to offer the young man today. The recruiter stressed the importance of gaining as much education as possible, particularly finishing high school, as everything today, even in service, is becoming specialized and more education is constantly needed.

No. 13 Hex Too Much For Saints; Bow 2-1

(By The Associated Press)

After 12 straight American Association victories the highly touted St. Paul Saints tripped over the "No. 13 Hex" at home last night, dropping a 2 to 1 game to Indianapolis.

Runnerup Minneapolis shaved a game off the Saints' lead by drubbing Toledo 16 to 7. Austin Knickerbocker, with a home run and a triple, accounted for four Toledo runs.

Milwaukee remained in a third-place tie with Indianapolis by defeating Louisville 7 to 5. Kansas City handed last-place Columbus its 12th straight defeat, 11 to 10, in 10 innings.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

New York—U. S. Court of Appeals reserved decision on request of former Cards pitcher Lanier and Martin for reinstatement.

Indianapolis—The National Basketball League announced that five University of Kentucky cage stars are going into business for themselves as new Indianapolis team of NBL.

GARDIELLA CASE AGAIN
New York, May 5 (AP)—Danny Gardella, one-time New York Giant outfielder, was scheduled for his turn at bat today before the United States Court of Appeals. Gardella is seeking a temporary injunction that would restore him to the good graces of baseball. He's now serving the third year of a five year suspension slapped on him for jumping to the Mexican League in 1946.

Rainbow Baseball Season Underway Sunday, May 15

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS "It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Howard Sullivan, another Escanaba figure skater who has made good in the so-called "big time," has rejoined the Ice-Cycles professional troupe in Louisville, Ky., in preparation for a move May 22 to England for a series of performances.

That leaves him plenty of time to take in the Kentucky Derby this Saturday and perhaps place a bob or two on Olympia or Old Rockport.

Sullivan spent a few days visiting here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Sullivan, 809 South 18th street. He had as his guests, the Misses Merma Gephart, of Hamilton, Ont., and Beverly Fields, of Oakland, Calif. They also are members of the Ice-Cycles troupe.

"Take me out to the ball game—tra-la-lala-lala!" It was a popular song here back in the 1920's and baseball was a popular game. This was long before the demise of the Escanaba Bears.

Sunday, July 26, 1925, to be exact! On that date, the Escanaba "iron men" defeated the Houghton Copper Sox, 6-5, in a 17-inning game. There were 123 official times at bat (Escanaba 65, Houghton 63), pitchers faced 132 men, Murray Boyle, of Escanaba, had 29 puts out at first base, and George McDonald, then of Escanaba and now residing in Newberry, handled 15 chances at second without a bobble.

What a game! Mike Walsh umpired that game, and the late Joe Young managed the Escanaba team. Sportswriters of those days used to call Joe's team the Escanaba Youngsters.

Here's a quote from the Escanaba Daily Press story on that marathon contest: "Raleigh Baum scored from second on a sizzling left field single by Bill Vassau in the 17th inning of a spectacular ball game at South Park Sunday afternoon and Escanaba won a 6 to 5 verdict over the Houghton Copper Sox."

Baum, who scored the winning run, is now in the trucking business in Chicago. He used to play with the Chicago Blues baseball team about 20 years. Vassau is residing in Manistique now.

Why resurrect this ball game? Well, some skeptic doubted that George McDonald actually handled 15 chances at second without a bobble, and a search in the Press archives had to be made to prove George right.

Trucks Wins 4th In Row; 5-1 Over Boston Red Sox

Detroit, May 5 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, proud possessors of a victory and a draw in a two game series with the Boston Red Sox, paired off against the Philadelphia Athletics today in the opener of a three-game series.

Virgil Trucks, strong-armed Tiger right-hander, stilled the Red Sox bats yesterday as he pitched a nifty, three-hitter for a 5-1 decision over Mickey Harris.

Trucks, whose four wins in a row rank him among the Major League's top pitchers, faced only 32 batters.

Ted Williams was the only Sox who gave Trucks much trouble. The lanky slugger slammed a homer and a single in four official times at bat.

Bill Goodman had the only other Boston hit, a double, but was nipped trying to stretch it into a triple.

The Tigers slammed out 15 hits, all of them singles, with eight of the Tigers sharing the hits. Trucks was the only Detroit to go hitless but he more than made up for it with his smooth performance on the mound.

Vic Wertz with three singles led the Tiger batters in their assault on Harris and his two successors, rookies John Robinson and Charlie Stobbs.

Wertz literally knocked Harris out of the box in the sixth when he lined a vicious drive off Mickey's left leg for an infield single. The ball popped high in the air along the first base line and there wasn't even a play on Wertz.

Harris got first aid from the Red Sox trainer and then was taken out of the game. He had given up five runs and 14 hits in 5 1/2 innings.

Ted Gray (0-0) was named to pitch against Carl Scheib (1-0) or Lou Brissie (3-0) today.

Chicago, May 5 (AP)—Rocky Graziano's bid for reinstatement in Illinois boxing rings appeared favorable today, although final decision of the state's athletic commission will not be announced until later.

"I learned my lesson," Graziano told commission members at a hearing yesterday. "It hurt me very much to be barred here. I won my championship in Chicago and then I couldn't fight no place."

The Brooklyn incorrigible of boxing, who won the world's middleweight championship from Tony Zale, and then lost it back to the Gary, Ind., veteran, has been barred in Illinois since eight months after he knocked out Zale in July, 1947.

Graziano and his Chicago attorney, Frank J. Mc Adams, attacked the legality of the order which barred the 27-year-old Rocky. That rule which Mc Adams said was aimed at his fighter-client, refuses licenses to boxers who have been given dishonorable discharges from the armed forces.

Chicago, May 5 (AP)—American league batters are whistling home over the $5,000 wire fence in Comiskey park, home of the Chicago White Sox.

Already the writers and some fans are calling the chicken wire enclosure "Homer Haven."

The White Sox built the new fence to step up home run production and the four base blows are increasing—for the other fellow. The arc of the new fence cuts down the outfield distances by 20 feet—left field 332 feet, center field 420 feet, and right field 332 feet.

In eight Comiskey park games this season, there have been 23 home runs. The Sox hit only eight of them. Eleven have dropped into the fence in "Homer Haven." In all last season only 57 home runs were hit in the park.

MSC Enters Six In Los Angeles Relays

East Lansing, May 5 (AP)—Coach Karl A. Schladehman today announced he would take six Michigan State track and field stars to compete in the Coliseum relays at Los Angeles the night of May 20.

Schladehman said he had accepted an invitation to bring broad jumper and hurdler Fred Johnson of Grandville, Mich., hurdler Horace Smith of Jackson, Mich., and a four-man two-mile relay team to the event.

The two mile team probably will be composed of Jack Dianetti, Bill Mack, Warren Druetzler and a fourth man to be selected from among Ed and Don Makielski, Tom Irmen, Dave Peppard and Zach Skokis.

U-M BOWS AGAIN
Detroit, May 5 (AP)—The University of Michigan's baseball team, is taking it on the chin this week. The Wolverines bowed 9 to 4 here Wednesday to Wayne University after having dropped a Tuesday game to Western Michigan.

SOFTBALL
The Liberty Loans softball team will practice at Ludington Park at 6:30 tonight.

Nat Homers Again Whip Chisox, 8-7

Chicago, May 5 (AP)—The Washington Senators slugged out three homers, two in the ninth inning, to snare an 8-7 decision from the Chicago White Sox and sweep a two-game series yesterday.

Hogan Fights Back; Sees First Tourney Since Car Accident

Dallas, May 5 (AP)—Ben Hogan, golf's Little Giant, said today there were three major obstacles in the way of his return to the game as a competitor.

They are: a fractured ankle, a cracked collar bone and a case of nerves. He isn't sure which is the biggest obstacle but said he was mighty hopeful he could lick all three.

The 1948 National Open and National PGA champion is attending his first golf meet since a bus almost crash three months ago almost took his life. He is a spectator at the Texas PGA in which his golf buddy of years standing, Byron Nelson, is defending champion.

Ben's doing all the walking he can take these days. That's what the doctors told him he needed. He has gained 25 pounds in the past five weeks. "I eat like a horse," he grinned. "I eat everything they set before me."

He weighs 140 1/4 pounds. "Some of that should be taken off, however," he said, "because my legs are shot full of fluid and the 140 1/4 pounds isn't all me."

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Pitching: Virgil Trucks, Tigers—Held slugging Boston Red Sox to three hits in winning his fourth straight victory, 5-1.

Batting: Mark Christman, Senators—Hit two-run homer in ninth to climax rally that overcame early Chicago 7-0 lead for 8-7 Washington win.

BOWLS ON CRUTCHES
Columbus, O., May 5 (AP)—The tournament of the Women's International Bowling Congress went through its 14th of 41 days yesterday without a change in the leaders. Highlight of the day was the bowling of Mrs. Zoe Nixon, 48 year old Columbus matron, who turned in games of 98-98-91. Mrs. Nixon bowled on crutches, having had her left leg amputated 20 years ago following an attack of polio.

Smash Broadway Hit Wins Pulitzer Prize

New York, (AP)—Pulitzer prizes have been awarded to "Death of a Salesman," the smash Broadway hit, and to "Guard of Honor," a novel about a wartime Air Force general.

The writers were named by the trustees of Columbia University—45-year-old James Gould Cozzens as the outstanding novelist of 1948 and Arthur Miller, 33, as the outstanding dramatist.

Robert E. Sherwood received an award for his intimate biography, "Roosevelt and Hopkins."

The Pulitzer committee decided that the Nebraska state journal of Lincoln, Neb., rendered the "most disinterested and meritorious service" among the nation's newspapers. The journal was honored for promoting a presidential preference primary.

A New York Sun series by Malcolm Johnson on waterfront crime was adjudged the year's outstanding example of local reporting by a newspaperman.

These awards, and others for outstanding work in the fields of journalism, letters and music, were made by the Columbia trustees on recommendation of the advisory board of the graduate school of journalism.

The awards—given for the 32nd year—were established in 1917 through a gift of $2,500,000 made to Columbia University by the late Joseph Pulitzer, former publisher of the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A cash award of $500 is given each individual winner, and a $500 gold plaque to the winning newspaper. The drama award covers the year from April 1, 1948, to April 1, 1949, and all other awards are for the calendar year 1948.

Sherwood was the only previous winner on this year's list. He received prizes in the field of drama in 1936, 1939 and 1941.

The music award went to Virgil Thompson, 52, music critic of the New York Herald Tribune, for the accompaniment to "Louisiana Story," documentary film on the drilling of an oil well in the Louisiana bayous. It was the first time the committee had awarded a prize to music connected with a motion picture.

Texas Seeks Share Of Fields Fortune; Claims He Is Son

Los Angeles, (AP)—Comedian W. C. Fields once told a folies girl he would marry her if he could obtain a divorce, so states a deposition filed here by a man who claims he is her son.

The claimant, William Rexford Fields Morris, 31, Dallas, Tex., filed the deposition by his foster mother, Mrs. Rose Holden, Belleville, N. J., to support his contention for a share in Fields' $800,000 estate.

Morris, an airlines employee, asserts he is an illegitimate son of Fields and the late Bessie Chatterton Poole, a Ziegfeld Folies girl, and was reared by Mrs. Holden. Fields starred in the folies for many years.

Price Day, of the Baltimore Sun, was honored for a series of articles on India's first year of independence, which was adjudged the best reporting on international affairs.

The newspaper photography award went to Nathaniel Fein, of the New York Herald Tribune, for a picture of the late Babe Ruth. The picture, entitled "Babe Ruth Bows Out," showed Ruth, bat in hand, as he was honored at the Yankee Stadium shortly before his death.

"The disruption of American Democracy," an historical study of the political crisis that led up to the Civil War, won a prize for Roy Franklin Nichols, of the University of Pennsylvania.

Peter Viereck, of Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., was honored for "Terror and Deceit," a collection of his poems published in magazines.
